Selectmen Delay Decision On Ballot Question

By Sue Aucella Deacon

"Let the people decide," a popular phrase in Andover lately, was heard more than once Monday night, when the selectmen began considering the School Committee's request to put a referendum question on the annual election ballot.

A "Yes" vote on that question — should the funds needed to pay for bonds to finance the $13.72 million school building program be exempted from Proposition 2½? — would prevent massive teacher layoffs and the "decimation" of the Andover school system, according to the schoolmen.

But the question won't appear on the March ballot unless four out of five selectmen agree to "let the people decide." The board took the issue under advisement this week to "do some homework," Chairman Norma Gammon said. They have a Feb. 15 deadline for making their decision, and Gammon said Wednesday they will vote on the question Feb. 8.

Next Monday night, the selectmen plan to discuss the possibility of adding other bond-related referendum questions to the ballot as well, Gammon said. She noted that a multi-million dollar Riverina Road pumping station is on the horizon, along with other major projects, such as a library addition, that may be funded with a bond issue.

Donn Byrne suggested that voters might want to exempt all existing bonded indebtedness for the entire town from Proposition 2½, "to make room for future projects." That question, coupled with the school bonding question, could raise the tax rate by $2 to $5, he said.

School committeeman Michael Giammusso appeared at Town Hall Monday night to make his committee's case. "Traditionally in Andover, a project of this magnitude (the school building project) should not come out of operating funds," he told the board. Town meeting approved the project in the spring of 1980 with "no thought of 2½," he added.

Unless bonded indebtedness for the building program is exempted from 2½, the school department's current $13.9 million budget will have to be cut to $12.9 million, Giammusso said — "a $1 million decrease before we even look at increases due to inflation, or adding new programs."

If the exemption is approved, the school department has recommended a fiscal

Democrats To Elect Delegates

Registered democrats in Andover will hold a caucus on Saturday, Feb. 6, at 2 p.m. at the Andover High School large group room to elect 13 delegates and two alternates to the 1982 Massachusetts Democratic Convention to be held at the Springfield Civic Center on May 22 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The delegates will be equally divided between men and women, the apportioned number of delegates has been allocated on the basis of a formula giving equal weight to the Democratic Party registration and the average vote for Democratic candidates in the last general elections for Governor and President.

Chairman James Doherty of the Democratic Town Committee will call the caucus, open to all registered voters in Andover, but Democrats must be present at the caucus to be eligible to vote. There will be no absentee or proxy voting.

Candidates for delegate must also be present and give his or her written consent to be nominated; the nomination must be seconded by two persons present at the caucus. All ballots will be written and secret.

Slate-making is allowed but no special preference will be given to slates. There is no quorum required for the caucus.

Reception For Manager At Library

A reception for new Town Manager and Mrs. Kenneth Mahony will be held Sunday, Feb. 7, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Memorial Hall Library.

Light refreshments will be served during the afternoon program which is being held to provide an opportunity for Andover residents to meet the municipal administrator who began his duties here in January, coming to Andover from Passaic, N.J.

Schools, Merchants Creating Job Bank

Being In an effort to stop shoplifting by teenagers, the schools and area merchants have teamed up to develop a "job bank" for Andover students. In a progress report to the School Committee last week, Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said he has met with the Chamber of Commerce and surveyed local industries, and is now contacting local businesses to see what jobs are available for young people.

The job bank program has two goals, according to Seifert: to make more jobs available to high school juniors and seniors, and to tell students where the jobs are and how to land one. And as an alternative, the job bank will also tell students where their services are needed as volunteers, he added.

Seifert complimented local merchants for their response to the budding program, but his optimism about its success was limited. "I hope we will have a number of jobs," he said, "although the prospect isn't all that bright."

Licenses Permits Approved

The board of selectmen issued one license and two permits during a regular meeting at Town Hall Monday night.

Auctioneer Herman Hurwitz of Newton was granted a one-day auctioneer's license for the sale of oriental rugs at the Sheraton-Rolling Green from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 31.

Bay State Gas was given permission to open streets to repair gas mains at 88

Summer St., 59 River Road and 6 Dale St.

And, looking ahead to warmer days, the board granted the Merrimack Educational Center permission to hold a road race on Sunday, April 6, starting at 11 a.m. at Andover High School. Arrangements for the race are to be made with the town manager and police chief.

Industry Expansion Assisted

The selectmen Monday night approved industrial revenue bonds for two flourishing local industries that want to expand their Andover facilities.

The board approved industrial revenue financing of $3.3 million for Industrial Materials Technology of River Street, and $4.2 million for Dyonics, Inc. of Dascomb Road.

The Industrial Development Finance Authority recommended both approvals, according to IDFA Chairman Dr. Lawrence Spiegel — who delivered a rapid-fire, off-the-cuff monologue on the two companies, and left the selectmen laughing too much to ask any questions.

On a serious note, however, Spiegel said the two businesses may be among the last in Andover to take advantage of industrial revenue financing. The program is "drying up very quickly," he explained, because the Internal Revenue Service has found the program has been "badly misused" for tax evasion in some municipalities across the country.

Census Form Returns Are Due

For the second time the annual town census is being conducted by mail, and the response from townspeople has again been positive, the town clerk reported this week.

Town Clerk Elden R. Salter said the postage-paid forms, which were due last Thursday, have been coming into his office at Town Hall at a good rate.

Salter expressed appreciation to residents for dropping those forms in a mailbox — and saving the town the cost of sending census-takers door-to-door.

The clerk also urged residents who have not yet responded to the census to return their forms to his office as soon as possible.

Glass Pickup Delayed

Because of an equipment problem in recent weeks, glass has often been picked up later in a recycling day than paper.

Although there seems to be few calls to the information numbers on the current recycling calendar, those coming in these days are mostly from people who complain that their paper was picked up but their glass left behind. The interval between paper and glass pickup varies, so glass should be left out at least for the rest of the recycling day, and possibly even until noon of the following day if paper pickup was made late in the day. When the large paper truck is in use again, one-stop pickup for paper and glass will be possible in most cases.

As continuing cold weather keeps snow banks high, placing recyclables where they may be easily seen and reached sometimes requires a change from the usual spot. Now is a good time to pool recyclables with a neighbor for greater visibility and perhaps easier access.

More than ever, glass presented in right reusable containers is easier to see and collect. Andover Recycles stickers are still available at Town Hall. They can be applied to reusable containers for glass or

Health Plan Hearings Scheduled

Residents of the Merrimack Valley are invited to present public comments at four public hearings on the Merrimack Valley Health Plan to be held February 9.

The public hearings are being coordinated by the Merrimack Valley Health Planning Council to encourage community participation in the health plan development process.

As one of six Massachusetts Health Systems agencies, the Merrimack Valley Health Planning Council is responsible for developing a plan to improve the health of area residents and contain health care costs.

The proposed Health Plan incorporates a five-year projection of health care resources and needs for the Merrimack Valley in the areas of health promotion and disease prevention, occupational health, ambulatory services, emergency medical services, acute inpatient care, post acute/long term care services, specialty services and home health care services.

One of the highlights of the 1982 plan is a section on occupational health including health promotion programs at the worksite, an area the council has been actively involved with. Also in this section are environmental factors such as water, land and air quality and their impact on health.

An Annual Implementation Plan summarizing the priority areas for implementation during the next year is included in the health plan.

The schedule of public hearings is as follows: Feb. 9, 9:30 a.m., Newburyport Public Library, Newburyport; 11:30 a.m., Haverhill Public Library, Haverhill; 2 p.m., Lowell Public Library, Lowell; 4 p.m., Lawrence Public Library, Lawrence.

River Fund Nears Deadline

A valley drive by the Merrimack River Watershed Council to raise $25,000 to match a challenge grant is nearing its final days. To date, $16,200 has been raised. The fund drive will establish a permanent revolving Land Acquisition Fund to preserve open space and protect farmlands and wetlands along the 55-mile Merrimack River in Massachusetts.

The council's appeal to help establish a $50,000 base fund, using the $25,000 gift from a foundation, has gone out to thousands of Merrimack Valley citizens. Contributions of all sizes are coming in to the council office. "If the grant is not matched by February 1," said Director Rosalind Tufts, "we could lose this magnificent tool for wise land use along the river. Scores of our members and friends have responded generously. This is a large amount to raise in a short time."

Contributions should be made out to the Merrimack River Protection Fund and sent to council headquarters, 22 Merrimac Square, Merrimac 01860.

Gift Will Assist Students

Merrimack College received a $5,000 gift from the Lawrence Eagle Tribune and the Rogers Family Foundation. It was announced by Merrimack College President Rev. John E. Deegan.

The gift will be used to provide financial aid to needy students.

"In light of recent government cutbacks in financial aid and rising costs, we are very grateful for this gift from the Eagle Tribune and the Rogers family," remarked Fr. Deegan.

"We hope their support and the support of the Greater Lawrence community continues."

Ski Tour, Breakfast Sunday

A cross country ski and snowshoe outing is set for Sunday morning, Jan. 31. It is being sponsored by the Andover Village Improvement Society, the Andover chapter, Appalachian Mountain Club and the Andover Conservation Commission.

A complimentary breakfast will be served starting at 10 a.m. The trails on AVIS Harold Rafton Reservation now join newly developed trails on Bald Hill and Wood Hill, a trail system of over five miles. There are trails for all abilities and everyone is welcome. Leaders are Dave Dargie and Burt Batcheller.

The Harold Rafton Reservation is located on High Plain Rd. near the junction of routes 93 and 495. It consists of over 200 acres, mostly woodlands, but including some open areas, a marsh and a portion of Fish Brook. It was established with a purchase of 122 acres from the Henry B. Bailey estate in 1963. Additional acquisitions during the next few years brought the total to 183 acres.

In 1968 AVIS named the area the Harold Rafton Reservation to honor a man whose untiring efforts have helped increase AVIS lands to almost 900 acres. All are open to the public, walking trails are maintained and all activities consistent with conservational objectives are encouraged.

The Bald Hill-Wood Hill Reservation, owned by the Andover Conservation Commission, comprises about 220 acres. Much of it was once an active dairy farm owned by the Babicki family. Trails were cut in 1978 through utilization a CETA project. There is a perimeter racing trail and many other connecting trails. Both AVIS and Con Comm land have trails in the area totaling around ten miles.

The area is best reached by turning off Rte 133 onto Greenwood Road. In one mile turn left onto High Plain Road, continue for about a mile just past 495 to top of Bald Hill.

For additional information call Moor and Mountain.

Hospital Receives Gift

Bon Secours Hospital recently received a $100,000 gift from the Artemas W. Stearns Trust to the hospital's capital campaign, "Expansion '83: New Dimensions in Kindly Care." The Honorable Joseph F. Bacigalupo, Stearns Trust trustee, presented the gift to capital campaign general co-charipersons Cornelius J. McCarthy, president, McCarthy Insurance Companies, Lawrence, and Robert L. Gable, president, Craig Systems Inc., Lawrence, noting the trust's desire to aid the hospital in providing vital health care services to the Greater Lawrence and southern New Hampshire communities. In accepting the gift, McCarthy stated that the donated money will substantially help the hospital meet the over $3.3 million cost of the first phase of the building program which entails adding 34 medical/surgical and 25 acute psychiatric beds to the existing hospital facility. He added that the Stearns donation significantly adds to the $500,000 goal set by the foundation fundraising division of the capital campaign.

The Artemas W. Stearns Trust, established in 1896, annually grants monies to various organizations in the Lawrence area including hospitals, Roman Catholic churches and secondary schools. Through its contributions over the past decade, the Stearns Trust has provided financial support for numerous Bon Secours Hospital projects, including the renovation of the outpatient clinic, laboratory reception and blood drawing areas and St. Mary's nursing unit. In addition, Stearns Trust donations have enabled the hospital to purchase various pieces of equipment for its Pediatric Health Center which is named in honor of Artemas W. Stearns.

Expansion '83 has been in the planning stages for five years and is designed to meet the ever increasing community need for additional medical/surgical beds and support services by adding 2,000 square feet to the hospital plant in two phases. Phase I addresses the community's need for medical/surgical beds while Phase II will provide for expansion and renovation of the clinical and support services. According to McCarthy, support from all those served by the hospital is necessary if the hospital is to continue to attract the most qualified medical staff, construct the best facilities, obtain the most up-to-date equipment, and in general, maintain the highest standards of medical care.

The Rich Get Richer And...

By Bob Autieri

John Dalphin

J. Paul Getty, the oil magnate, had an estimated daily income of $300,000.

A large percentage of dog food is consumed not by dogs but rather by America's poor people.

The controlling shares of the 150 top American corporations are owned by only 250 families.

Our tax system puts an excessive burden on the non-upperclass and allows some major corporations and some people with incomes over $200,000 to pay no taxes at all.

These rather startling statements are an example of the revelations made by Dr. John Dalphin, an Andover resident and Merrimack College professor, in his new book, The Persistence of Social Inequality in America.

The book, recently published by Schenkman Publishing Co., took the Merrimack associate professor of sociology three years to write and according to Dr. Dalphin, "It grew out of 12 years of teaching at Merrimack."

Utilizing government data, Dr. Dalphin depicts a nation controlled by a handful of people who have amassed tremendous wealth and power.

The book is essentially in three parts: 1) description and documentation of the extent to which there is a concentration of wealth, income and power in the upperclass; 2) a discussion as to why the non-upperclass hasn't challenged this concentration more effectively; 3) a look into the future and what can be done to end the persistence of social inequality.

The Andover resident who has a Ph.D. from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst begins his assault on America's social inequality by illustration of some revealing statistics.

Stating that persons earning an annual income of $135,000 and up qualify for the upperclass, Dr. Dalphin points out in his book that 1/5 of the total net worth of the entire population is accounted for by this upperclass, the top 0.5 percent.

"Furthermore, one half of everything that is produced in the United States is accounted for by 150 corporations which are controlled by 250 families," the Merrimack professor emphatically explained.

Added to this immense control of wealth and income is our tax system which is "highly favorable to the upperclass and highly unfair to the non-upperclass," according to Dr. Dalphin.

He maintains that loopholes in our tax system allow many wealthy people to pay little or no taxes while the non-upperclass carry the excessive tax burden.

The 39 year-old native of Roslyn, New York, feels that social inequalities will not diminish but grow under the Reagan Administration. "Reagan's cuts in social programs combined with more tax benefits for the wealthy will further increase the inequality," he remarked seriously.

But perhaps there is hope for a member of the non-upperclass who will work long and hard and someday enter the elite class. Not likely says Dr. Dalphin as he feels that America is no longer the land of opportunity where one can go from rags to riches. Horatio Algiers are strictly of the past.

Why then hasn't the non-upperclass erupted against this small upperclass?

Dr. Dalphin cites many reasons in his book including the division of the non-upperclass into its own income, religious, ethnic and racial groups which prevents it from becoming a unified group.

He also suggests that the non-upperclass vents its frustration and anger on the welfare poor when they should be directing attention to the upperclass and the wealthfare system.

"The chiseling that occurs in the welfare system is minor in comparison with the excesses of the wealthfare system," Dr. Dalphin commented. Pointing to tax loopholes, he professes that if they were removed, enough income would be generated to bring all poor Americans out of their destitution and still there would be billions of dollars left over.

What then can be done to close the inequities? Dr. Dalphin explains that first there must be a recognition of the situation as it is and then "There must be a broad based social movement."

He specifically suggests closing tax loopholes, restructuring campaign financing to prevent the upperclass from dominating elections, and effective implementation of anti-trust legislation.

"Many people might label some of these ideas as socialistic but what they represent," he argued "is

Donald F. McHenry

To Give Stearns Lecture At Academy

Ambassador Donald F. McHenry, U.S. Permanent Representative to the United Nations in the Carter Administration, will deliver Phillips Academy's 1982 Alfred E. Stearns Lecture on Friday, Jan. 29, in George Washington Hall at 8 p.m. He will address "Coming Crises in the Third World: A Global Perspective," sponsored by the academy's Global Resources Project and Friday Forum. The public is invited.

Ambassador McHenry is University Professor of Diplomacy and International Affairs at Georgetown University and president of International Relations Consultants, Inc. A career diplomat, his study and work have been in the fields of international law and organization and foreign policy. Before becoming U.N. Ambassador, he had been the U.S. Deputy Representative to the U.N. Security Council since 1977 and, as the U.S. representative on the U.N. Western Five Contact Group, was the chief U.S. negotiator on the question of Namibia.

He joined the U.S. Department of State in 1963 and three years later received its Superior Honor Award. He was a guest scholar at the Brookings Institution in 1971. In 1973 he left the state department to join the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace as director of Humanitarian Policy Studies. In 1976 he was a member of President Carter's transition team before joining the U.S. Mission to the UN. He is the author of "Micronesia: Trust Betrayed" (Carnegie Endowment), and articles in professional journals and newspapers.

Born in St. Louis, he graduated from Illinois State University in 1957, receiving his master's degree in 1959 from Southern Illinois University. He is a governor of the American Stock Exchange, a member of the editorial board of Foreign Policy Magazine, a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, a director of the International Paper Corporation, the Coca-Cola Company and the First National Bank of Boston, and a trustee of the Ford Foundation, Mount Holyoke College and the Phelps-Stokes Fund.

The first Stearns Lecture was given more than 50 years ago in 1927. The Lectureship was established by Thomas Cochran, an alumnus of the Class of 1890 and a trustee, in honor of the academy's ninth headmaster. Some of the distinguished lecturers have been Robert Hutchins, Jacques Barzun, Robert Frost, Sumner Welles, Great Britain's Secretary of State for Social Services, Barbara Castle, former Governor General of Canada Vincent Massey, U.S. Ambassador to India now U.S. Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan and Vice President George Bush. Both Senator Moynihan and Vice President Bush were predecessors of Ambassador McHenry in his post at the United Nations.

The Egyptians were among the first to use the fragrance of flowers for perfume. Flowers or spices were steeped in animal fat that was molded into cones. As a cone melted, the fragrance was released, Massachusetts Audubon notes.

School Nurses Honored

National School Nurse Day was observed nationwide on Jan. 25. This observance is sponsored by the Department of School Nurses of the National Education Association, hoping to make the public aware of the importance of school health services and the school nurse's role in these programs.

The school nurse serves as the health advocate for all school children, regardless of their socio-economic, educational, or health status. Her major duties include vision and hearing screening, scoliosis screening, testing for tuberculosis, assisting at physical examinations, serving as a resource person to teachers in health areas, aiding in curriculum planning, and counseling pupils, parents, and school personnel to help plan action for eliminating, minimizing, or accepting health problems that interfere with effective learning by students.

Part of the school nurse's time may be spent in demonstration teaching to benefit both the classroom teacher and the students. The school nurse can be the most qualified, most effective teacher in the use of drugs, environmental pollution, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation and first aid, and in mental health, problems which are currently of great concern in every community, as well as in traditional curriculum units on nutrition and the systems of the body.

Andover has five school nurses who are responsible for monitoring the health needs of 5,389 students and 560 staff members in seven public schools and one administration building.

Andover school nurses are continually striving to upgrade their academic training to keep pace with a rapidly changing world in which today's students, hopefully, will lead healthy lives. Your school nurse is a valuable asset in the process of education.

Graduates

Elizabeth Marie Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson, 19 Beech Circle, Andover, has graduated from Boston University Sargent College of Health Programs. She is a registered physical therapist at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston and a 1977 graduate of Andover High School.

Beavers are equipped to work under water. They have folds of skin behind the incisor teeth that seal the mouth and protect them from drowning. They also have clear membranes over the eyes, and valvelike ears and nostrils that automatically close when they are under water, according to Massachusetts Audubon.

East Junior High Happenings

By Jennifer Tucker

East's powerful boys' basketball team played an exciting game against Methuen last Tuesday. With a final score of 55-38, the boys put a firm grasp on a big win. Although the whole team played an outstanding game, David Hughes was exceptionally good while Tom Lutz put out his usual 100 percent effort.

Even though the girls' team could not quite push past Methuen last Tuesday, they played a great game. The score was close, 21-20 in Methuen's favor, as both teams seemed evenly matched. Super games were played by Laura Scileppi, Kathy Dehm and Jennifer Kirkland.

The boys played a rough game against Dracut that resulted in the referee throwing Dracut off the court with 59 seconds left to play. Despite provocations by the other team, I am happy to report the East boys remained sportsmen all through the game, which also resulted in Andover East coming out on top.

The student council will hold the third dance of the year tomorrow.

Special Programs At St. Augustine's

A special liturgy at the 11 a.m. Mass Sunday in St. Augustine's Church, will begin the observance of Catholic Schools Week for the parish.

The observance from Sunday, Jan. 31, through Fri-

Nutrition Week To Be Observed

Andover public schools are celebrating the 10th anniversary of Child Nutrition Week from Jan. 25-29. A celebrity luncheon will be held in the West Elementary School on Friday. Honored guests will include state, town and school officials. Students and guests will enjoy the same meal of baked chicken, gravy, rice pilaf, sliced carrots, homemade biscuits, oatmeal raisin cookie and milk.

Child Nutrition Week was established by the Massachusetts Legislature to publicize the need for improving the nutritional well being of children in the Commonwealth. Children are our greatest natural resource. How they eat affects their educational achievement in the '80s and their health and productivity in the '90s.

Our slogan for the week is Eat Right For A Better Life. Children participating in the Andover School Lunch Program have the opportunity to eat a better lunch (1/3 of their daily food needs) at less cost than the brown-bag lunch from home. One mother recently said, "School lunch is the best bargain in town. I know because I compared costs—and it saves my time in the morning, too."

The annual Sugarloaf ski trip was last weekend. The group of about 25 students boarded the bus headed for Maine Friday evening at about 5:30 p.m. The bus returned full of exhausted but happy students Sunday at 10:30 p.m. The trip was chaperoned by four adults, one of which was our own Gary Hendrickson from the English department. Everyone was brimming over with stories of the activities they took part in; skiing, of course, the most popular one although only those brave enough to face the 20 below temperatures skied Saturday. On Sunday, with nearly 20 inches of new snow and moderating temperatures, many more turned out on the slopes. For those who found it too cold to ski on Saturday, the village of small shops at the bottom proved to be an inviting area. Saturday night was spent in the gameroom and listening to music.

Hendrickson reported that there were no problems with behavior of students throughout the entire trip.

day, Feb. 5, will include programs, displays of students' work, activities and prayer services.

Parent-teacher conferences are scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 4, from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday, Feb. 2. Parents are invited to join their children in the Celebration Liturgy at 10:30 a.m., have lunch with the children and remain at the school to participate in the afternoon program.

New students for St. Augustine's school may be registered between 9 and 11 a.m., Tuesday, Feb. 2 through Friday, Feb. 5 at the school office. All children entering school for the first time must submit certificates of birth, baptism and a complete health record. A non-refundable registration fee per child is required. Kindergarten children must be five years of age by Sept. 1 in order to be registered and first graders must be six-years-old by Sept. 1, 1982.

Benefit Concert

Andover High School's model United Nations class is sponsoring The Concert on Friday, Feb. 5, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. at East Junior High. William Colby and Gary Shapiro, two very talented teachers, are featured. All are invited to this evening where a variety of songs will be performed.

All funds will support the United Nations class trip to New York in March where a convention will be held. Tickets can be purchased at the door and by contacting Mr. Simpson at Andover High.

Everybody at East seems to be surprised at how fast the new passageway is going up. While the students are hard at work inside, the workmen seem to be working just as hard outside despite the cold weather. It is encouraging to know that with each pounding of a hammer and each cement block that is put in place we are one step further toward a new school.

Andona Society Nears Its 30th Year Of Service

In March, 1952 the Andona Society was founded as a manifestation of the desire of its charter members to create a charitable organization in Andover. The name Andona was chosen as a combination of the name ANDover with DONA the Latin verb "to give". "The primary object of this organization is to aid the youth of the town and to be able to assist various other organizations, groups, and individuals by a gift of money or equipment to help directly or indirectly the said youth." Over the past 29 years the Andona Society has grown from its 5 charter members to 108 provisional, active and senior active members plus an additional 95 associate and non-resident members.

The success of this non-profit organization is due in part to the fact that the club works on a point system. Each member must earn a required number of points annually by working on various committees for each of the Society's five major annual projects - the Fall Ball, Christmas Parade, Clowns, Dessert Card Party, Amblyopia Screening, and Clown Town - and thereby share the workload.

It is interesting to note that the results of a recent survey of its active members showed that 61% of these women in the Andona Society are mothers who hold down full or part-time jobs. Each member averages three hours per week in volunteer activities other than the Andona Society with fulltime homemaker members averaging six hours per week in other volunteer activities. Eighty-seven percent (87%) of the Andona Society members are college graduates. Members' fields of employment are varied: 25% are in education from day care level through to college instructors; 10% are in the medical field; 23% are in business professions with 8% of these entrepreneurs; and the remainder in travel & entertainment fields. Although Andona members' ages range from 21 to 60, the average age of active members is 36 with an average number of 2 children.

Their reasons for joining and supporting the Andona Society are best summed up by the following typical responses.

"Andona is comprised of women who have it all together. Andona gals know it is a giving organization - where one is active, giving and totally committed. It gives me great pleasure to work for an organization involved in the town where I live as I have always felt that volunteer groups improve the quality of town life."

"I believe in what we work for - the youth of the community. It is the only organization I have ever belonged to where I feel every member does her share

- the jobs are not left to only a few good workers."

"The satisfaction of work well done through an effective united effort is reward enough; the socialability, friendships and fun of the fundraising activities and annual projects are a delightful bonus."

Last year Andona's total charitable contributions were $12,400

Miss Spencer Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Spencer of Andover announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean Elizabeth, to Walter Prior IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Prior III of Eliot, Maine.

A graduate of the University of New Hampshire, Miss Spencer is employed at a hemodialysis nurse at the Beth Israel Hospital in Boston.

Her fiancé is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire and Illinois State University. He is employed as personnel manager of Copy Cop Printing and Copying Co., in Boston.

A July wedding is planned.

Edith Grace Mahon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Knotts of Galveston, Texas, recently became the bride of Calixto Juan Garcia, son of Mrs. Isabel Garcia of Miami, Fla., and the late Ismael Garcia of Havana, Cuba.

Christ Episcopal Church in Andover was the setting for the Nov. 28 candlelight communion ceremony.

The service was performed by Rev. James Diamond, rector of Christ Church. Music for the ceremony was provided for by John Whiteside, organist at Christ Church, who played organ and harpsichord accompanied by Tom Cook on trumpet and Marcia Brown on flute. Beverly Eskel of Methuen was guest soloist and guitarist. Music included selections from J.S. Bach, Jeremiah Clarke, Couperin, Beethoven and Handel.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by Salvatore Tommasi, friend of the couple from Methuen, who gave the bride in marriage to the groom. The bride wore a candlelight silk organza gown with Queen Anne neckline, bishop sleeves and bodice trimmed with silk alecon lace and pearls. The flowing skirt with a mushroom pleated flounce edged with P'aux D'ange lace falling into a chapel length train. Her bridal veil was attached to a pearl crown with blusher and two tiers of the veil. To compliment her attire she wore pearl earrings and a pearl drop necklace. She carried an arrangement of pink roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Barbara Platt of Andover served as maid of honor. Gillian Mahon, daughter of the bride, served as her mother's bridesmaid. Micheline Mahon, daughter of the bride, served as flower girl.

The maid of honor wore a full length lilac and ivory gown accompanied by lilac flowers and baby's breath in her hair. She carried a bouquet of lilac flowers and pink roses.

The bridesmaid wore a full length lilac gown with matching jacket. A lilac derby hat with matching netting flowing down the back was worn on her head and she carried a bouquet of lilac flowers.

The flower girl wore an all lace lilac bustled gown and carried a basket of silk and real flowers which she handed out as she passed down the aisle. She wore a crown of lilac flowers with baby's breath and thin lilac ribbon streamers in her hair.

German Garcia served as best man. Ushers were Eric Vogler of Salem, N.H., and Richard Cronin of Merrimack, N.H.

A reception at the Indian Ridge Country Club in Andover followed the ceremony.

The couple honeymooned in Spain, Switzerland and Germany and are residing in Andover.

Flower Show Planning Underway

For New Englanders harried by this most frigid winter, an early and welcome sign of spring may be found at the Boston headquarters of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

There, advance tickets have gone on sale for the organization's 1982 New England Spring Garden and Flower Show at the Commonwealth Pier Exhibition Hall, 170 Northern Ave., Boston, Saturday, March 13, through Sunday, March 21. It will be the 111th annual presentation for this traditional harbinger of spring.

Roger Dane, executive director of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, announced that special rates have been made available to those who purchase tickets by March 1.

Group and individuals desiring to take advantage of the advance ticket benefits may write to Flower Show Tickets, 300 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, MA 02115. Further information may be obtained by calling the society's office.

More than 150 garden and trade exhibitors will participate, according to Phyllis Andersen, president of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. In keeping with a program motif soon to be announced, the society itself will offer a major exhibit of a Dutch garden with tulips, a working windmill and live sheep.

The Flower Show will run daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Children Make Holiday Centerpieces

tion of Mrs. Joseph Carriere, chairman, and Mrs. Ian Arnott, co-chairman, each child made a very professional-looking arrangement with candle, bow, pine cones and greens to take home. The children and adults enjoyed a small party following the workshop. Other club members helping were Mrs. Joseph Madden, Mrs. Vito Frazzette and Mrs. Edward Gill.

In November the club members went to West Elementary and Bancroft schools to make fresh cranberry-orange relish and hand-decorated containers that looked like turkeys for the relish. Mrs. Joseph Carriere, Mrs. John Nelson and Mrs. Edward Gill worked with the children at

Bancroft, and Mrs. Ian Arnott and Mrs. Michael Kallil visited the West School

1983 budget of $14.9 million, increased seven percent over the current budget.

A $12.9 million school budget would mean "huge numbers of layoffs" and a "decimation" of Andover's "excellent school system," the schoolman explained.

"The impact on operating expenses next year and in the ensuing years, what it would do to educational programs, is devastating."

"We are asking your approval to go to the people," Giammusso said. "Let the people make the decision."

Selectman Byrne said that bonding for major projects in town "has always been treated as part of the allocation of funds — it has always been considered an integral part of the whole budget."

The exemption would add $2 to the tax rate, he added, "over and above what would normally be raised with 2½."

"The basic consideration is that the tax rate will go up," Edward Harris said. He also asked why $720,000 in planning funds for the building program appropriated by 1979 town meeting were not included in the referendum question. (Bonds for that amount have already been issued.)

Finance and Budget Director Tony Torrisi replied that that is an option, although it would have to be a separate referendum question because it was not part of the $11 million appropriated by town meeting in 1980, or the additional $2 million appropriated by a 1981 special town meeting.

Selectman Susan Poore also asked a number of questions on the school budget and the bond issue.

Robert Friedenson of Wild Rose Drive told the selectmen he sensed some "confusion about what the main issue is. The question is, should we allow the citizens of Andover to make the decision on this issue?"

Referring to a recent decision by other town officials, Friedenson said, "I have a concern that there's a blockage in this town of not allowing citizens to decide how and where their money is spent. You should give the people the opportunity to decide for themselves."

The selectmen returned to the topic at the end of their meeting. Byrne criticized the school department for basing their recommended fiscal '83 budget on a current budget that includes $800,000 added last year as a "one-shot deal." That $800,000 (available because bonds to fund the building project were not sold last year) should have been deducted from the base budget used to calculate next year's budget, he said, calling the school calculations "voodoo finance."

Learn To Swim

The Lawrence YMCA will conduct a concentrated instructional Learn To Swim Program for girls and boys ages 5 to 12 years during Feb. 15 to 19 school vacation. Three classes will be held a day: 9 a.m. to 9:45 a.m. 5 to 7 years; 10 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. 8 to 12 years; 1:30 p.m. to 2:15 p.m. 5 to 12 years. Learn To Swim is open to members and non-members at a small registration fee.

Nature In Winter

The Massachusetts Audubon Society offers a two-session course on nature in winter for the adult. The focus will be the Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary in Topsfield. Participants will learn winter tracks, tree identification, winter birds and weather.

The course is held on two Saturday mornings, Feb. 6 and 13, from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon at the sanctuary.

Jerry Silverman said he would like to see an accounting of how that money was spent. (Torrisi said half was spent on maintenance, and the other half for capital expenditures related to energy conservation.) He also suggested that the school committee could have reduced their budget because smaller enrollments are projected for next year.

Silverman added that if the school committee could "show good reason" for their $14.9 million budget, "we ought to let the town make the decision (on a referendum question)."

To help rescue missions, pigeons have been trained to peck a key when they see orange, red or yellow objects from a plane or helicopter. Three pigeons facing different directions are strapped in an observation chamber; a buzz in the pilot's helmet indicates which pigeon has spotted an object, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Gammon, however, disagreed: "It is not the selectmen's place" to question the school budget, she said. "It is not our decision to make — not getting into their budget in any way."

It is the selectmen's responsibility to "get out the information to the taxpayers," the chairman indicated. "But we can go so far as to what our responsibility is."

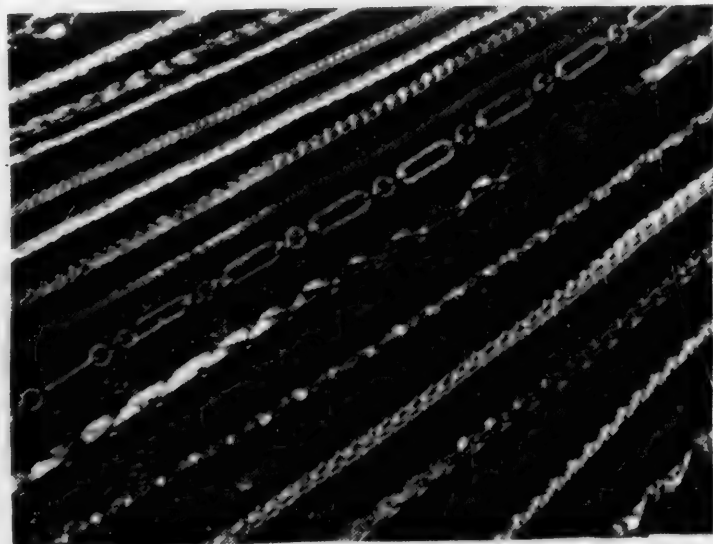

But Byrne maintained that the schoolmen would "have to convince me that their position is correct" before he would vote to put the referendum question on the ballot.

Single Tax Rate For All Adopted

By Sue Aucella Deacon

A smaller tax rate for homeowners — and a larger rate for commercial and industrial property-owners — is not in the cards this year. The selectmen Monday night voted to maintain one tax rate for all classes of property in Andover.

On the three-one-zero vote, Chairman Norma Gammon and Selectmen Donn Byrne and Jerry Silverman voted to stay with one tax rate, while Edward Harris voted in favor of varied rates and Susan Poore abstained.

In their vote against classification (the term for varying tax rates), the selectmen had the support of the assessors, the Industrial Development Finance Authority, and local businesses. All agreed that trying to ease the pain of revaluation for homeowners by increasing the tax rate for business and industry would be unfair.

Assessor William Russell said classification was included in the revaluation law to take care of communities where the residential share of the tax burden would rise dramatically after revaluation. The residential share of the levy in Andover will rise by two and one-half percent, and that is "not considered a major shift," he said.

The IDFA believes classification would be "patently unfair," IDFA Chairman Lawrence Spiegel added, because it would amount to "a double taxation. Industries already pay their share of the load — they shouldn't have to pay a sur-tax on top of their taxes."

And two weeks ago, the Chamber of Commerce president urged the board to reject classification because businesses would pass the cost of higher taxes down to Andover consumers — and some small merchants might be driven out of business.

"Maybe we have a lot of people in this town who have not been paying their way," Silverman said of the higher residential assessments that revaluation produced. "Now we have an equalization — we're finally saying, this is what their property is worth."

"Some large companies, over the years, have paid more than their share" of taxes, he added. The selectman suggested that some of those companies might be moved to donate money for town projects, such as a library addition, "with the tax dollars they save."

But Harris said he "failed to see the fairness" of taxing residential and industrial property at the same rate, because revaluation will result in smaller tax bills for business and industry this year — and larger bills for homeowners.

"I don't think anybody's trying to sock industry," he said. "The question is, who's being socked? It's the residential owner."

"It can be shown that we're not socking it to anybody," Poore said. She maintained that even with a higher tax rate, business and industry would still get smaller tax bills this year, and "an excellent tax rate, compared to other communities."

And while business could handle higher taxes by passing on the cost to their customers — if their bills

Planners Will Test Residential Classification For DASA Site

The Planning Board recently offered the lukewarm opinion that it might be a good idea to convert the DASA site off Stevens Street into a training center for local industries, consisting of offices and lodging space.

Instead, the planners have ended up inserting an article onto the annual town meeting warrant that calls for rezoning the industrial parcel from Industrial G to Single Residence A — tagging it for residential use.

The planners indicated what Chairman David Gravalles called "a vague preference" for the training center plan when the owner, through the Community Development and Planning director, asked for their thoughts on the idea earlier this month.

But the Industrial Development Commission "feels very strongly that there ought to be a residential reuse, rather than offices," on the site, Director Jonathan Gilmore told the planners Tuesday night.

IDC Chairman Lawrence Spiegel wanted the planning board to insert the rezoning article onto the warrant so a public hearing could be held on the proposal, Gilmore explained. The planners will have the option of withdrawing the article from the warrant at a later date.

The planners agreed to insert the article onto the warrant this week; today is the deadline for inserting all articles. The board placed two other items on the warrant as well: a change in the language of the zoning bylaw concerning heliports, and an amendment to the gravel removal bylaw.

Heliports are already allowed in Andover, regulated by a section of the zoning bylaw concerning accessory uses.

The planners, at the request of the Zoning Board of Appeals, are proposing a stricter definition of heliports in the bylaw. Among other changes, they would like to stipulate that the Federal Aviation Administration must review all proposed heliport designs.

The planners also voted to amend the gravel removal bylaw to give town officials the authority to control earth removal within a subdivision site. Currently the bylaw regulates only off-site removal — leaving town officials powerless to control large-scale earth removal within the Pole Hill subdivision site, for example.

Gilmore said he hoped that amendment would prove "very simple, and hopefully non-controversial," on the floor of town meeting.

$33.4M Total

$3.5 Million Increase In Budget Attributed To Fixed Costs

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The town manager's recommended Fiscal 1983 budget, which the selectmen will soon begin examining item by item, includes a town-side operating budget of $10.5 million, and a school-side operating budget of $15 million.

That total $33.4 million budget submitted by Town Manager Kenneth R. Mahony earlier this month represents a seven percent increase in the school budget, and a five percent increase in the general government budget over the fiscal '82 budget.

The total town and school recommended budget is up $3.5 million, or 11.8 percent, over last year's figures largely because fixed costs — including debt service, insurance, unemployment compensation and retirement contributions — "are up so dramatically," Finance and Budget Director Tony Torrisi explained Wednesday.

Fixed costs have risen by 50 percent, or more than $2 million. Without the sharp rise in fixed costs, the town and school operating budgets combined would have increased by $1.5 million, or a little over six percent, Torrisi said.

The largest chunk of the increase in fixed costs, $1.9 million, is attributed to debt service for the $13.72 million school building project. Other increases in fixed costs are $12,738 for insurance, $65,000 for unemployment compensation, and $92,680 for retirement contributions.

The 1983 tax rate could be somewhere in the neighborhood of $21.72, according to the recommended budget. However, many of the figures included in the budget, such as state aid and county assessments, are still uncertain, and were included only as estimates.

And the school budget of nearly $15 million assumes that voters will exempt debt service on the school building project from the limits of Proposition 2½ by approving a referendum question during the March election — and the selectmen have yet to agree to place that question on the ballot.

The manager's budget also includes $400,000 for special articles, and $200,000 in the reserve fund.

The selectmen will soon begin the annual process of trying to whittle down the manager's recommended budget, before they present it to 1982 town meeting for voters' approval. The board is scheduled to meet with department heads from the town side during future meetings, so the staffers can explain their budget requests.

Turner Farm 21-Lot Plan Gets Initial Approval

The Planning Board Tuesday night voted its unanimous approval of preliminary plans for "Turner Farms Estates," a proposed 21-lot subdivision to be built on the former Turner Farm off South Main Street.

With little discussion, the planners also unanimously approved the developer's request for a special permit to cluster. In a plan unique in Andover, developer John Magee of Andover plans to combine eight conventional house lots with 13 smaller clustered lots.

The board approved the permit to cluster. Vice Chairman Andrew Girdwood explained, because without clustering, the developer would have been able to build more houses. Clustering also leaves a four-acre parcel of open space to be deeded to the Conservation Commission.

During a special meeting last week, the planners ironed out problems with drainage on the site, the major concern of abutters who attended a crowded public hearing on the development last month.

Port Engineering Associates, the firm that has drawn the plans for Magee Construction, later came up with a new drainage plan that satisfied both the planning board and the neighbors. According to Town Engineer John Avery, who attended last week's meeting, the new plan will improve drainage for abutters to the south of the subdivision, Girdwood said.

This week's meeting was attended by a handful of abutters, who asked if the developer had enough dry land to build on in the former apple orchard. Planner Marge Bradshaw explained that the developer's plans meet the requirement that at least 90 percent of a lot be dry land.

And Engineer Paul Turbide emphasized, "We are not building on the wet area. We are going to stay out of there entirely — we are not going to go near it."

The planners placed nine conditions on their approval of the preliminary plans, most of them fairly routine. They will require the developer to redesign two house lots, or remove them from the plan, because the lots do not comply with zoning regulations. And they asked Magee to reduce the subdivision roadway from 50 to 40 feet, and add a sidewalk from South Main Street.

Magee must submit a definitive plan for the subdivision before beginning construction, and the planners will hold another public hearing when those plans come in. He plans to build 150,000 to 200,000 homes in the development, served by septic systems, and built around one 1,700-foot cul-de-sac.

Later Tuesday night, the planners held a public hearing to review preliminary plans for Jenkins Estates, a proposed 21.4-acre clustered development off Jenkins Road, near the North Andover line.

Rosnoe Construction would like to build 16 house lots on the land, and deed 5.8 acres of open land to the town. Atty. Charles Patterson, representing Rosnoe, said plans are currently up in the air, because the developer and public health director have yet to agree on where wetlands are located on the site.

The developer is also investigating the possibility of running a water line through North Andover, obtaining an easement from private property-owners in the neighboring town.

A report to the planners from the Public Works director said the director is concerned that plans to supply water to the proposed development could reduce water pressure for nearby Olympia Way, creating a fire safety problem.

Abutters Michael and Janice Brink were among a number of abutters who attended the hearing, and they questioned plans for the water line. Other abutters were concerned that the development could increase the salt run-off into well water supplies of neighbors on Jenkins Road.

The planners took no action on the plan this week, but Patterson said the developer would ask for a special permit to cluster when he returns for approval of definitive plans.

Mrs. Poore To Seek School Post

After serving two terms on the Board of Selectmen, Susan Poore of Osgood Street will seek a three-year term on the School Committee during the upcoming annual town election.

Poore took out nomination papers from the town clerk's office Monday afternoon.

"I've been a selectman for six years, and I think it's time for some other people to get out there now," Poore said Wednesday. "I've found it very interesting and very rewarding, and I encourage people to do it."

However, she is "not ready to cease being involved in the community," the selectman added, saying she has "been interested in school affairs. And seeing two seats available, and two people leaving in discouragement, concerns me."

Poore joins Kenneth Gropper, chairman of the School Building committee, and Robert Smith of 10 Dundas Ave. in the race for two vacant school committee seats. Committee Chairman Joseph Finn and Committeeman John Eaton have decided not to run for reelection. Finn after two terms and Eaton after one.

There are two seats to be filled on the board of selectmen as well, with Chairman Norma Gammon seeking re-election. Other candidates are Atty. William Dalton and Kenneth Buck.

John Childs of 135 North St. will seek a seat on the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical School board. Incumbent James Booth, who defeated Childs in a close race once before, will not run for reelection.

Moderator James D. Doherty will be seeking re-election to another one-year term and also on the ballot will be the election of five Pynchard Free School Trustees.

There is no election of a member of the Andover Housing Authority this year, this being the state appointee's term which is filled by the governor.

Nomination papers, containing 107 voter signatures are due in the town clerk's office by 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 16.

Hospitals: The Future Staff Takes A Look

Students at the Community Cooperative Nursery School spent a morning touring the Lawrence General Hospital recently. They explored the maternity area, examined x-rays, and visited the physical therapy department. It was a fascinating morning for the four and five year olds and just in case there was any doubt about what they wanted to be when they grew up, the children proudly wore their doctors' caps around the hospital and back to school. The tour was sponsored by the LGH Aid Association. Photos clockwise from upper left: Ben Garcia, 65 Spring Grove Road, and Katie Markuns, 101 Edgelawn Ave., listen to their tour guide; Future Doctor Hannah Pfieffe, 15 Carisbrook St., takes time out for a mid-morning snack; Vivian Ackley, Director of Physical Therapy, explains the whirlpool to curious children; The students examine x-rays shown by Linda Trimble, an Aid Association volunteer; Hannah Pfieffe, 15 Carisbrook St., watches herself in the mirror as she tries out the walking rails in physical therapy, while Peter Zetlan, 11 Woodhaven Drive, finds a new way to use them.

Townpeople Are The Ones To Decide

It is most difficult to understand how Andover's board of selectmen can compound an easy decision into a difficult and time-consuming problem.

This week the board was asked by the school committee to place a question on the March annual town election ballot putting before the voters a decision on whether to exempt the indebtedness of the school building program from the general school budget.

Instead of simply acceding to the request of the school department, selectmen opted to delay the decision, needing more time to look into the matter, raise doubts as to some of the school budget figures and other odd and sundry items, all generally aimed toward what one must assume as a critique of school department operations.

The only thing selectmen were basically asked to do was to allow the citizens of the town to make a decision relative to school costs.

The decision by ballot would be made by more people than generally attend a town meeting, thus a more accurate accounting of the feelings of the town on the issue.

But, selectmen could not perform that simple function, choosing instead to let the matter stand for further discussion at a subsequent meeting and a decision sometime in mid-February.

To place the matter on the ballot requires approval of four members of the board. Frankly, the decision should be a unanimous one--to give the voters of Andover an opportunity to determine their own financial destiny with regard to the school budget and the handling of the financing of the school building project.

But, the delay can be somewhat understandable in view of the overall school project and school department operations being held in less than an atmosphere of enthusiasm by some members of the board.

Last year when additional funds were needed for the school project, three selectmen, Susan T. Poore, Donn Byrne and Edward M. Harris, originally voted not to allow the matter to be presented to town meeting for a decision, an action later reversed.

There has been criticism of the project from the outset with regard to cost, the need for some of the items included, as well as discussion of the financing from time to time by some members of the board.

The path of the project from its initial planning stages has been strewn with such a sufficiency of hurdles, that the actual construction progress to date is a significant milestone. Interjection of thoughts and ideas by selectmen and finance committee members from time to time can be included within the confines of the hurdles to be crossed.

The matter to be addressed now is the cost of education and providing an adequate educational plant. Had Proposition 2½ not become a part of municipal budget planning, the problem would never have developed. The costs would have been included in the budget presented to town meeting in the spring and voters would have the opportunity to accept the figure or alter it.

The legislature recently granted towns and cities the opportunity to override some provisions of Prop 2½, such as exempting school construction indebtedness from the constraints placed on school operating budgets through a decision by the voters in a town.

This is what the school committee has asked the selectmen to do. What they are saying to the townspeople simply is what would you like us to do? The school department has begun its budget planning based on a decision being made by the voters, with one figure representing the construction exemption, the alternate a cost for educational expenses including the costs of bonds and interest.

All the selectmen are required to do is approve allowing the people of Andover to make that decision via the March ballot. It is strongly suggested that such action be taken as quickly as possible to enforce the definition of home rule decisions being made by the people of the community and not reserved to some opportunistic officials.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — January 1907

The Joshua Chandler farm in West Parish has been sold this week to Kriaor Assorian and Hovannes Dagian, who are at present living on the Merrill farm.

The members of the Andover Natural History society enjoyed an illustrated lecture on "The Cave Men of America" on Tuesday evening, in the Archaeology building at Phillips Academy, by Professor Warren K. Moorehead, curator at the building. His lecture was an extremely interesting one, dealing with the peculiar people of the southwestern states who make their homes in caves.

Another candidate is in the field for selectman in the person of Mr. Harry M. Eames. The town may congratulate itself upon the character of the men who are aspiring to this honorable office. Mr. Eames is one of the best citizens in Andover, and has had a life-long interest in the town's best progress.

Wednesday night and Thursday morning the thermometer registered more degrees of frost than at any time during the entire winter. The cold wave struck Andover during Tuesday night and it steadily grew colder during Wednesday, the thermometer hovering around the zero mark about six o'clock.

50 Years Ago — January 1932

There is no dole in Reading. While Andover and other communities through their boards of public welfare hand out town aid to able-bodied men, the neighboring community of Reading saves the self-respect of its citizens, who are in need of employment to keep body and soul together, by giving them town aid if they work for it.

Immediately following the disposition of the article to appropriate $15,000 at tonight's special town meeting, the citizens of the town will be asked to remain after adjournment and form a taxpayer's association in Andover. John F. O'Connell, one of the town's largest taxpayers, is the originator of this idea.

A plan to widen Main street in the vicinity of Phillips Academy to a four-lane road with a grass plot dividing the road in half is in the hands of the Board of Public Works and will be presented to the voters of Andover at the town meeting in March for their approval.

Investigation of traffic conditions in Shawsheen around South Union and North Main streets, in which vicinity bad accidents have occurred, have indicated to state traffic engineers that there is a great amount of speeding there, the Townsman was informed yesterday.

25 Years Ago — January 1957

The Andover TOWNSMAN was significantly honored by the New England Weekly Newspaper Association last week. This newspaper received two awards — one for general excellence and another for the best local advertisement. Business Manager Raymond DeRuisseau accepted the award certificates in behalf of Publisher Irving E. Rogers.

A record-breaking budget of $2,099,922 plus special articles valued at $707,583 are now being considered by the Finance Committee. This year's budget is $401,283 greater than the one considered by the FinCom a year ago.

For the first time in history, the annual NEAUU track and field championships will be held in an indoor cage. Phillips Academy's Case Memorial Cage will be the site for the annual meet, according to Ralph H. Colson, president of the New England Association. Athletic director Fred H. Harrison is handling local arrangements for the meet.

Miss Mildred Tagney has been elected by fellow students at Pynchard as their delegate to Good Government Day. The annual statewide event will be held March 8 in the State House.

10 Years Ago — January 1972

The local welfare department will be consolidated into the regional office in Lawrence, probably at the end of February, according to reports. The local office at 93 Main St. to serve Andover residents entitled to welfare, old age assistance and benefits processed by the State welfare department will be closed, according to information.

A variety of subjects will be offered for voter consideration in the annual town meeting warrant which contains over 50 articles. Among the items are some of a repeat nature, such as condominiums, and setting of quorums, some salty, such as regulating the use of chlorides, and adoption of bylaws regulating town meeting.

Three Andover police officers apprehended a trio of young men and charged them with armed robbery in connection with the theft of drugs and cash at Upson's Pharmacy in Shawsheen Square. Patrolman Lawrence Lynch shot one of the alleged thieves in the leg, while Patrolmen Warren Maddox and David Grant apprehended the other two who had attempted to flee on foot.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Janet D. Lake

Andover's senior citizens—at least some of them—would love to go to see "Annie" at the Schubert Theater in Boston on Wednesday, Feb. 24—a matinee performance. But they need some others to fill the number of seats they have. So they have opened the trip to anyone who would like to go with them, young, old, residents and non-residents, sisters, brothers, cousins, etc. The price of $25 includes deluxe coach transportation and orchestra seats. If you would like to go, call The Haven and let them know.

The winter school vacation is the week of Feb. 15, during which time there will be no hot lunch program. Lunches will be resumed Feb. 22.

You should be watching for the Community Services bulletin and the February Newsletter containing information on the next series of classes to be conducted at the senior center. You should register Feb. 10 and sessions will begin the week of Feb. 22. Those courses that have no fee can be signed up for by telephone. If a fee is charged, you must get the money to the center either in person or through a friend.

The mini-clinic scheduled for Feb. 2 will be held at The Haven. Appointments may be made for this free service by calling the Andover Health Department.

JACK ANDERSON AND JOE SPEAR

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Aftermath of Paris embassy hit stirs new fears at StateBy JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON -- A few days ago in Paris, an American lieutenant colonel named Charles Ray was shot and killed as he left his apartment to head for work at the American Embassy. An unknown assassin simply walked up to him, aimed a pistol at Lt. Col. Ray and shot him in the head.

The shocking thing about Ray's murder is that he was a man you wouldn't expect to be on any assassin's hit list. He was one of four assistant military attaches at the U.S. Embassy in Paris. By anyone's definition, he was a middle-level official.

This is what has the top echelon at the State Department climbing the wall.

On Nov. 12, 1981, the acting U.S. ambassador in Paris, Christian Chapman, was the victim of a similar attack. A lone gunman confronted Chapman as he was leaving his home to go to work. The would-be assassin fired six shots at Chapman. But the acting ambassador ducked behind his car and all the shots missed.

The attack on Chapman was a failure, but it led the State Department to tighten security for top American officials in Europe.

The success of the tighter security measures is what is now driving the State Department to despair. With top U.S. diplomats better protected, anti-American terrorists apparently have decided to make middle-level U.S. officials their targets. That's how the State Department experts interpret the murder of Lt. Col. Ray.

Obviously, there is no way that bodyguards can be provided for every U.S. diplomat in Western Europe. This means that every American stationed in Europe, from ambassadors to file clerks, is a possible target of murderous terrorists.

CONGRESS IS TO BLAME -- Whatever the cause of the Jan. 13 plane crash here in Washington turns out to be, we can tell you who's really to blame for the tragedy. It's the members of the United States Congress. Let us explain:

National Airport is cramped into a tiny area on a river bank. It is flanked by high-rise buildings. The runways are too short. And just a few hundred yards beyond the runways, planes must clear bridges crowded with commuters.

Yet National Airport is not only kept open; it's one of the most congested airports in the country. Why? Investigators for the General Accounting Office know why. They have just completed an investigation of the airport. Their report hasn't been written yet, but our reporters have talked to them.

The story can be summed up in one word: Congress. National Airport is controlled by congressmen. It's their private fiefdom. It's wonderfully close to Capitol Hill. In normal traffic, a congressman can get from his office to National Airport in less than 15 minutes.

That's why National Airport is still operating. That's why it handles as many as 1,000 flights a day. And that's why Dulles Airport, a 45-minute drive away, is still not used to capacity after nearly 20 years.

The GAO investigators point out that National, unlike other airports, can't generate its own revenues for improvements. It must go to Congress for all its money.

Why is this important? One example, directly related to the recent horror:

One of the survivors said the pilot tried to abort the takeoff, but ran out of runway. For the past few years, National Airport officials have been trying to add a safety zone at the end of the runway. But Congress put politics ahead of safety. Not until this year did the lawmakers finally approve the funds. And the money can't be spent until next year.

That's no way to run a railroad -- or an airport.

HEADLINES AND FOOT-

NOTES -- The Soviet Union has stationed a combat brigade of 3,000 soldiers near Havana. There's also a huge, Russian-built intelligence facility on the island. From it, the Soviets can monitor communications throughout the United States and Latin America. The Russians sometimes hear the U.S. ambassador's telephone calls even before officials in Washington do.

Nearly two years ago, an American journalist named Jon Anderson was arrested in Peru on trumped-up drug charges. He was uncovering official corruption at the time. While he waited in jail for 18 months, we wrote about his plight. Now we are pleased to disclose that he has finally been released. Peruvian police, it seems, finally admitted they could not prove the charges they had lodged against him.

President Reagan has apparently run short of jobs as political payoffs for his friends. So he recently nominated a longtime fundraiser friend, Eugene Lipp, to the National Transportation Safety Board, where he'll have to make decisions on aircraft safety. But Lipp's talents lie in marketing, sales and public relations -- not in aviation technology. Some suspicious senators have told us they might not go along with the nomination.

Student Matinee

"The Price," a modern classic by master playwright Arthur Miller, will be presented to students at special matinee performances at Merrimack Regional Theatre at 11 a.m. on three consecutive Wednesdays, Feb. 24, March 3 and 10.

"The Price" is a powerful and deeply moving play which examines with compassion, humor and rare insight the relationship of two long-estranged brothers who meet to dispose of their late father's belongings. It's about rivalry, ambition and, finally, the need for reconciliation. "The Price" is highly recommended for junior and senior high school students.

Tickets are at the special educational discount rate of $3.50 per ticket. Reservations are required. For further information or to reserve tickets, contact Phyllis Corcoran, group sales manager.

Regular performances of Merrimack Regional Theatre's "The Price" are Tuesday through Saturday at 8 p.m. Feb. 19 through March 14.

Warrior Icemen Inconsistent

The Andover High School Golden Warriors continued their erratic play in three recent MVC outings, losing to undefeated Billerica 6-0, Austin Prep 2-0, and previously winless Lawrence High 7-4.

The Warriors were very tentative in the game with Billerica. It appeared that everyone was thinking defense, and Andover managed only 13 shots on net the entire game. Barry Moore was in goal and did very well against the powerful Indians.

Andover blasted out of the gate in their next game, and gave a confident Austin Prep team quite a scare. Moore was superb in goal, turning back shot after shot, keeping the Warriors in the game. Capt. Tim Derby, with linemates Co-Capt. Tom Fabiani and hustling Gary Milne, played solid two-way hockey, as did juniors Greg Sacco, Jay Downey, and Dave Tiberii. Relentless checking by John Morris, Joe Germano, and Tom Duncan kept Austin off balance all night.

Sophomore defenseman Billy Donovan played an excellent game, with strong and consistent help from seniors Bob Leber and Co-Capt. Craig Hyslip. John Jones, Ray Orner, Shane Smith, and Rick Clement chipped in for this best all-around Warrior effort of the season.

The following Wednesday, Jan. 20, Andover hit the skids, handing an elated Lawrence high team its first win in two seasons. The Warriors got on the board early as the Lawrence goalie skated out of the net to stop a Derby breakaway. The two collided, and the puck skidded into the net.

Lawrence roared back with three unanswered goals to make the score 3-1 at the end of the first period. At 2:10 of the second, Morris scored to bring the Warriors to within one. From then on the puck seemed to bounce the wrong way for Andover. Germano has several breakaways thwarted by a now determined Lawrence goalie. The Lancers scored two more goals to make the score 5-2 after two periods, and early in the third added a short handed goal.

Fabiani then scored two goals, and it looked as if the Warriors might have a chance when a power play blast by Hyslip from the point literally went through the net. However, officials waved off the goal, and the decision stood even after they found a hole in the net.

Subsequent Andover power plays peppered the Lancer goalie and banged off the posts, but to no avail. Lawrence added its last goal, and the final score stood at 7-4. Karl Fredrickson had 29 saves in the Andover nets.

The Warriors record now stands at a disappointing 1-9-1, with the last regular season game being played against Wilmington, at the Methuen High School rink this week.

Lady Warriors Rebound

Andover's Lady Warriors after opening the season with three straight victories before the Christmas holidays and dropping two straight have since rebounded with four wins in succession.

The Lady Warriors boast a squad of both youth and experience with five seniors, five juniors and five sophomores comprising the team.

After opening with a 50-23 victory at Greater Lowell which found Heather Thomson leading the way with 22 points on 10 baskets and 2 foul shots the girls returned home to face a formidable foe in the Wilmington Wildcats. The Wildcats proved to be all the Warriors could handle at this stage of the season. Using their size and experience, the Wildcats kept the game close until the final buzzer with Andover edging out a 45-39 victory.

Again, as in the first game, Heather Thomson led Andover with 14 points and was followed by Debbi LaSota's 10.

The Lady Warriors traveled to Dracut for their third game of the season and proceeded to defeat the Middies by a 60-42 margin. The Warriors were again led by the Thomson - Sullivan duo as Heather Thomson collared 29 points on 13 baskets and 3 foul shots. Meanwhile, Beth Sullivan pocketed 18 points on 6 baskets and 6 fouls while dominating the boards.

After a two week Christmas layoff, the Warriors returned to action losing a heart-breaking 41-40 decision to Chelmsford at Andover. The Warriors obviously cold from the long layoff proceeded to hold the Lions to a single basket in their fourth period only to see them win it at the foul line as they hit 6 shots in 15 attempts in the fourth period while Andover garnered 4 baskets and 2 foul shots in only 5 attempts. The final foul shot to defeat the Warriors came with only two seconds remaining.

Andover's second game after the holidays was a misleading 68-49 loss at Haverhill as the Hillies literally blew the Warriors away in the fourth period after seeing an early fifteen point lead disappear as the Warriors closed to within two at the end of three, to trail by a 41-39 margin.

This game was finished under protest as a Haverhill player who obviously had fouled out returned to the game as the official disregarded both score books that had credited the girl with five fouls and allowed her to return to the game.

It was time for the Warriors to pick up the pieces. They proceeded to do this as they took out their frustrations on Greater Lawrence by disposing of them by a 53-36 margin with Heather Thomson hitting for 14 and Beth Sullivan 12 in abbreviated action.

The Warriors next met the Hillies at home on Saturday night and left no doubt as to the outcome by demolishing them 50-37. The Warriors led at half time by a 28-16 margin and increased it to 42-23 at the end of three periods. The fourth period found the Warriors extending their lead to 23 points before unloading the bench with slightly over five minutes left.

The third straight victory was at the hands of the Methuen Rangers. The local girls were taken into overtime before defeating the Rangers by a 42-36 margin.

The Warriors were able to come from a 36-32 deficit to tie the game with only twenty-seven seconds on a driving lay up by Heather Thomson who finished with 17 points. Beth Sullivan followed with 19 points and scored two baskets in the overtime.

The fourth straight victory came at the hands of Lawrence as the Lady Warriors led 13-1 after one, 29-9 after two and 49-17 after three before finishing up with a 61-29 decision.

The girls were again led by Heather Thomson who hit for 21 points. The Warriors also received well rounded performances from the whole squad.

The starting five for the Warriors is comprised of 5'11" - Sr. Guard, Debbi LaSota, 5'6" - Sr. Guard, Beth Lucianco, 5'8" - Sr. Forward, Heather Thomson, 5'6" - Jr. Forward, Connie Corkery, and 6'0" - Jr. Center, Beth Sullivan.

Coach Kelley also feels that the efforts of the entire bench have led to their present 7-2 record. He also feels that the team has progressed rapidly due to the contribution of these people, especially 6'0" - Sr. Karen Bourdelais who has really come into her own and has amazed the crowd with her rebounding and blocked shots; 6'0" - sophomore Susan Lutz a late, but blossoming addition to the team who can rebound, score and play defense. Also not to be forgotten is sophomore guard 5'4" Mary Tropeano whom Kelley says "makes things happen when she is on the court. She makes our defense go with her quick hands and feet. She has that charisma associated with winners."

The remainder of the squad are Sr. Diana Ramirez, Juniors Louise Perry, Allison Hill, Terri Curley, sophomores, Mary Oppel, Kriston Wilson and Lorna Turgiss.

At press time, the Lady Warriors were to play Dracut and then meet league leading Tewksbury the two-time defending champ and presently undefeated on Friday night in Tewksbury.

The boys also won the mile relay in a time of 3:56.1. The team consisted of Peter Comeau, Craig Silva, Bill Martin and anchorleg Dan Boland.

The girls lost their first meet this season to the strong Billerica team 57-29. The girls record is now 4-1.

Davynne Williams won the 50 yard dash in 6.4 seconds and was followed by teammate Cynthia Surret who cleared 5'0" in the high jump to claim first place. Barbara Cullinan captured first in the 300 in 40.2 seconds and Amy Lander took second. Lander also took third place in the high jump. Pippi Saalfrank took third place in the 50 hurdles. Sally Bickerton added a second in the 1000 in 2:57.3. Julie Burke took third in the 600 while Kelly Shannon did the same in the two mile. Mary Hurley placed third in the mile.

The Andover girls will compete in the State Coaches Meet at Harvard this Saturday night.

Christ Church Leads Division

By Rick Harrison

Christ Church A won the battle of the unbeaten, slapping St. Robert's F 30-8 and taking a half-game lead over idle Temple Emanuel atop the Intermediate Blue Division of the Andover Church Basketball League.

The victory left C-C with a 4-0 record, while Temple stands at 3-0.

In other Blue Division action at West Junior High last week, West Parish B nipped South A 27-25, Christ Church B slammed South B 24-4, Ballardvale United A nudged intra-church rival Ballardvale United B 28-22, St. Augustine's D hammered St. Augustine's C 25-5, and St. Robert's D slipped past St. Robert's E 24-20.

Christ A, 30-8

In its most convincing victory of the season, Christ Church A turned a four-point halftime edge into a runaway with a 15-0 third period explosion.

St. Robert's F managed to stay close over the first two quarters, but the combination of Bart Kalkstein, John Knowles and Adam Smith was too much to handle in that pivotal third period.

Kalkstein led the balanced C-C charge with 9 second-half points, while Knowles and Dave Lewis contributed 6 apiece, Smith 5, Bob Beanland 2 and Jon Pratt a pair of free throws.

Jim Robinson and Brad Wright also played well for the division leaders, who faced another showdown earlier this week against Temple Emanuel.

John Mattola, Paul VanDerWielen and Steve DeVoir notched fieldgoals for St. Robert's F, while Greg DeVoir converted two foul shots.

Chris Landers and Dan Fay were other St. Robert's standouts.

West Parish B, 27-25

West Parish B assumed a comfortable 15-7 halftime lead, saw it dwindle to 21-19 after three quarters, but hung tough for the win behind fourth period baskets from Dave Carnes, John Hess and Rob DiAdamo.

Carnes led the winners' attack with a career-high 14 points, Hess chipped in 4 points, DiAdamo 3, and other marksmen were Scott Livermore, George Bilger and Stewart Rees with a fieldgoal each.

Dave Wade emerged as game-high for South A, connecting in each period and depositing 17 points overall.

Bob Schmidt netted six points and Al Boucher two. Christian Parker, Steve Schmidt and Paul Lussier added solid floor games for South A.

Christ B, 24-4

The outcome here was never really in doubt, as Christ Church B vaulted to a quick 8-2 advantage and held South B scoreless over the middle two quarters.

John Russell paced the victors with 10 points, Tad Lee and Bob Ashworth tossed in four apiece and single fieldgoals were contributed by Steffan Tomlinson, Mark Angelos and Eric Williams.

Chris Eggert delivered a first period bucket for South B, Jim Hendry duplicated that feat in the fourth quarter and other solid performances came from Leo Fontaine and Bill Koromhas.

Ballardvale A, 28-22

Ballardvale A and B hooked up in a legitimate barnburner, with the winners snapping an 18-18 deadlock with a 10-4 fourth quarter spurt led by Andy Meckel's six points.

Meckel and Dave Rehe shared game-high point honors with 12 apiece, Rehe pocketing 10 of his total in the first half and Meckel producing his entire output after intermission.

Mike Mooney chipped in a third quarter basket and Mike Hardock a fourth period fieldgoal.

Playing strong defensive games were Jim Ward, Glen McLeod, Kim Lowe, Tim Douglas and Steve Smith.

Dave Bean led the Ballardvale B offense, but the usually high-scoring sharpshooter was limited to just six points.

Devon Arsenault and Mickey Connors stuffed 5 points each, Alan Hanley 4, and Bobby Nutter added a bucket.

Andy McIntyre and Kim Nutter were other stalwarts for the tough-luck B crew.

St. Augustine's D, 25-5

St. Augustine D put this one away quickly, constructing a 10-2 first quarter lead over St. Augustine C, and the winners added some insurance with a healthy 12-1 fourth period spurt.

Andy Peck was the game-high man with 11 points, while Bobby Hughes pocketed 6, Andy Harmel 4, Jason Scarpaci 2 and Paul Dubanowitz 2.

Scott Lanouette and Pete Caruso added hustling efforts.

Mike Lebreck swished three free throws for St. Augustine C, while Pete Kannam added a bucket.

Defensive stars were Kevin Foley, Dave Carrier, Mike Harrison and Neil Fater.

St. Robert's D, 24-20

St. Robert's D fell behind St. Robert's E 20-13 after three periods, but combined timely offense with tenacious defense to produce a game-winning 11-0 run in the final quarter.

Tracy Danner and Yvonne Guzley sparked the fourth stanza rally with four points each.

The D-crew actually won the game at the foul line. Both teams finished with 10 fieldgoals, but the victors held a 4-0 edge at the charity stripe.

Eric Green led St. Robert's D with 8 points, Yvonne Guzley contributed 6, Tom Sheehan 5, Tracy Danner 4 and Jeff Masse a free throw.

Bruce Taylor and Billy Martin, no relation to the former NFL football player and major league manager of the same name, also played well for the victors.

Josh Malitsky paced the hard-luck St. Robert's E contingent with 6 points, while Mike Smith and Brendan McGrail stuffed 4 apiece.

Other fieldgoals were hooped by Jim Spinelli, Mike Faraci and Jerome Guerard.

THE TOWNSMAN, JANUARY 28, 1982

By She Livermore

St. Robert's C and A teams still remain undefeated, winning lopsided 20-3 and 27-4 victories over South A and St. Robert's D in league play last week. St. Augustine's A and St. Robert's B have the second spot in the standings with a 4-1 record.

Christ Church 4 - St. Augustine C 0

In a game noteworthy only for the fact that the scorekeeper had a relaxing time, Christ Church won a 4-0 victory by denying St. Augustine C any good chances to score the elusive basket.

Bobby Nash and Ken Gable each tossed in a basket which won the victory for Christ Church.

Players turning in fine performances were Davey Ahouse and David Hughes for Christ Church, as well as Noah Caruso and Peter Reming for St. Augustine's C.

St. Augustine A 16 - South B 3

St. Augustine's A lineup held a 6-1 edge at the halfway mark and never looked back. In the final quarter, they erupted, pumping in eight points to win a 16-3 victory over South B.

Patrick Finn led the scoring for St. Augustine's with 8 points, six of them in the final quarter's barrage, Brian Davies added 4 and Kirk McConville and Chris Allard contributed 2 points apiece.

Bryan Boucher denied the shutout with his basket and free throw.

Players turning in fine performances were Jim Landry, Jonathon Lewis and Jared Scarpaci for St. Augustine's, as well as Todd Gray and Josh Russo for South B.

St. Augustine's D 8 - Temple Emanuel 6

St. Augustine's D led 8-0 at the halfway mark. Playing catch up, Teple Emanuel narrowed the lead to 8-6 in the second half but the final buzzer thwarted any further attempts to tie it up and even toss in the extra basket, and St. Augustine's won the hard-fought victory.

Jeff Hurley tossed in 4 points for the victors and Ryan LeGrow and Scott Buchanan each added 2.

Craig DerAnanian contributed 4 points to Temple

Emanuel's come back attempts, and Mark Shapiro tossed in 2 points.

Players turning in fine performances were Tim Haarman, Brian Novelline, Ted Capeless and brother, Jamie, for St. Augustine's, as well as Mike Taylor and Adam Mazonson for Temple Emanuel.

St. Robert's A 27 - St. Robert's D 4

St. Robert's A team demonstrated their accurate shooting skills by winning a lopsided 27-4 victory over the D team.

Five players contributed to the scoring barrage. Chris Lane was high marksman with 10 points, Jonathon Merenda was a close second with 8, Matt Perry tossed in 4, Jeremy Gibson added 3 and Dan Moynihan completed the scoring with 2.

Paul Salafia was the lone scorer for St. Robert's D with four points.

Players turning in fine performances were Dennis Grogan and Dan French for St. Robert's A, as well as Scott Sauri, Dan Griffin and Paul Fiosi for St. Robert's D.

St. Robert's C 20 - South A 3

Leading 6-1 at the half, undefeated St. Robert's C team tossed in 14 more in the second half to win a rather lopsided 20-3 victory over a spirited South A crew.

Six players contributed to the scoring for St. Robert's C. Kevin Murphy and Stephen Spinelli were the leaders with six points apiece; Michael Zetlan, Ryan Cassily, Mark Shwetz and Shaleen Cassily each contributed solos.

Matt Orlando denied the shutout with one basket and a charity shot.

Players turning in fine performances were Marc Selvitelli and Todd Green for St. Robert's C, as well as Chris Gray, Scott Eggert, Andy Brent and Kevin Ring for South A.

St. Robert's B 23 - St. Augustine's B 19

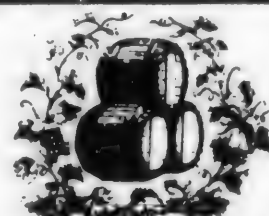

In the most exciting game of the week, St. Robert's B won a 23-19 victory over St. Augustine's in overtime play. The game was tied 19-19 at the final buzzer and in overtime action, Joanne McNamara scored on two charity baskets and Chris Jarek added two points to his total of five for the night, to win the hard-fought victory for St. Robert's B.

High scorers for St. Robert's B were Tim Martin and David Ward with 6 points apiece, Chris Jarek a close second with 5, Corey Taylor 4 and Joanne McNamara, who waited until the overtime period to demonstrate her scoring skills with 2.

Mark Green led the feisty St. Augustine's B lineup with 7 points, Tom DeBenedictis and Billy Tobin each contributed 4, and Jeff Foley and Billy McCann tossed in a basket apiece.

Players turning in fine performances were Ted Fazio, Kim Davis and Marsha Carroll for St. Robert's B, as well as John Bishop, Tom Torrisi and Jeff D'Urso for St. Augustine's B.

French Leads Skiers

Dartmouth College skiers have emerged from the first big weekend of eastern racing competition with two impressive individual wins and a third-place team finish in St. Lawrence University's abbreviated winter carnival.

Tiger Shaw, a Dartmouth freshman from Stowe, Vt., bested 125 top eastern racers on the chill, fast slopes of Stratton Mountain on Sunday to win the Eastern Cup. Shaw was the decisive winner in both runs of the prestigious giant slalom. Jory Macomber of Dartmouth finished fifth.

The Big Green managed a third-place finish at St. Lawrence in a ski meet consisting exclusively of cross-country racing. Dartmouth finished behind first-place Middlebury College and the University of Vermont.

In the first day, 15 kilometer race, Dartmouth's best finish was by senior Tom French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan F. French, who placed fourth. Paul Schulstedt of UVM was the winner.

The second day's racing consisted of a 30 kilometer relay, with three racers from each school covering 10 kilometers. Dartmouth's team of French, Colin McNay and Chris Hunt finished third. Dartmouth's second team of Chris Bean, Ed Biddle and Tom Horton managed an eighth-place finish.

A total of 32 men and 19 women competed

West Parish, St. Robert's Undefeated

By Rick Harrison

Two-time defending champ West Parish A and strong St. Robert's A remained undefeated in the Intermediate Gold Division of the Andover Church Basketball League, both at 4-0 overall, as they joined St. Robert's C in the winners' circle during last week's action at the West Elementary School gym.

West Parish A trimmed St. Augustine's A 32-13, St. Robert's A ran roughshod over St. Augustine's B 54-12, and St. Robert's C subdued St. Robert's B 31-24.

St. Robert's C 31-24

St. Robert's C fell behind in the early going, clung to a slim four-point edge at halftime, and then broke the game open with a 13-4 third quarter run led by Brian Kobelski and the Marotta twins.

St. Robert's B made a run at the winners in the final period, as John Slavin sparked a 12-6 spurt, but it wasn't quite enough.

Kobelski led all scorers with 14 points, while Gary Marotta also hit double figures by pumping through 10 points.

Cliff Marotta contributed four points and John Davis added three for the victors.

Kobelski pocketed seven of his points in the pivotal third stanza, and he had 11 of his 14 points in the second half.

Mike Klinger and John Slavin led the answering fire against their intra-church rival, tossing through 10 and 8 points, respectively.

Joe Massaro chipped in four points, Steve Colitz scored a pretty basket on a breakaway, and other B-team standouts were Sean Melia, Mike French and Rajiv Sheel.

West Parish A, 32-13

West P raced to a 13-2 first quarter lead with Kurt Burzlaff and Tim Boudreau combining talents for 11 points, and the defending titlists put the game on ice with an 11-0 third period surge.

Burzlaff led six West A marksmen with a game-high 10 points, eight of them in the first half, while Boudreau added seven points and several fine assists.

Lefty guard Mike Lane also netted 7 points, Chris Poor hooped 4, and single buckets were notched by Stefan Kelly and Bill O'Brien.

Burzlaff blocked several shots and did yeoman work on the boards, while others playing well for West A were Kurt Nickerson, Pat Kelley and Mark Berberian.

Mark Russell paced St. Augustine A with six points, all in the first half, while Paul Davies swished five fourth-quarter free throws and Brandon McCue delivered a last period fieldgoal.

Drew Dunn and Jose Guerra were other St. Augustine A hustlers.

St. Robert's A, 54-12

St. Robert's A took no prisoners against St. Augustine B, grabbing a commanding 24-6 halftime lead and putting the game way out of reach following a 22-4 third quarter explosion.

All nine St. Robert's players scored, with three of them hitting double figures as Jeff Smith swished 14 points, John Perry 12 and Matt Gibson 11.

Chris Sapuppo and Mosa Kaleel fired through 4 points each, Chris Concemi 3 and single baskets were notched by Larry Middleton and Steve Veilleux.

Gerry Nassif completed the assault with a pair of fourth period free throws.

Three Way Battle Continues

By Rick Harrison

The three-way horserace continued in the Intermediate Division of the Andover Youth Basketball League as Harvard, Boston College and Holy Cross all won again during action last week at the West Junior High gym.

Unbeaten defending titlist Harvard stopped Villanova 34-20, Boston College roared from behind to ni Dartmouth 30-28, and Holy Cross nudged North Carolina State 27-25.

Harvard, 34-20

The Crimson were back at full strength for this game and, after inching ahead 6-5 in the first period, Harvard outgunned Villanova 26-3 over the middle two quarters to put the game away.

John Perry led seven players into the winners' scoring column with a game-high 13 points, while Steve Redgate contributed 8, Matt Dorsey 4 and Nick Coon 3.

Netting single baskets were Chris Sapuppo, Sue Grogan and Lisa Horgan.

Also playing well for the pacesetters were Chris Nelson and John Dorsey.

Pete Derba and Patrick Burns ignited the Villanova attack with 8 and 7 points, respectively.

Greg Kinsky and Mark Tucker tossed in fieldgoals, and Dave Noyes converted a free throw.

Joey Tavilla, Mike Giammasi and John Lutz held their own under the boards, while Dave Vickers and Steve Hanley were other wildcat stalwarts.

Holy Cross, 27-25

This game was close from start to finish as Holy Cross, once again playing without Chris Colsia, inched ahead 3-2 in the first quarter, led 13-12 at halftime and 19-17 after three periods.

Eric Goodman emerged as game-high marksman for the winners, more than doubling his output for the previous three games by pumping through 15 points.

Joe Hurley flipped in 7 points, lefty guard John Twomey swished 5, and other standouts were Brian Lannan and Bob Stoltz.

Division scoring leader Chris Poor sparked the NCS answering fire with 13 points, while Matt Fardy and Derek Brucato stuffed three points apiece.

Brett Yannalfo, Steve Howes and Eric Tatro produced single buckets for the Wolfpack, Matt Fardy was tough on the boards, and Tatro also played well defensively.

Boston College, 30-28

Kurt Burzlaff, scoring the winning basket in the closing minute, lifted Boston College to its uphill triumph over Dartmouth.

The Eagles fell into a 12-2 hole after the first quarter, but cut the gap to 18-14 at halftime before taking a 22-20 lead after three periods.

The rivals then exchanged fourth quarter baskets prior to Burzlaff's clutch game-winner.

Burzlaff led seven BC players in the point parade with 9, all in the second half, while Andy Lascher added 6, Mark Russell 5 and Jamie Clarke 4.

Burzlaff, Lascher and Russell did the offensive damage in the fourth period.

Jim Tacy, Jonathan Butt and Andy Pauline contributed key buckets for the victors.

Matt Gibson was game-high for Dartmouth with 16 points, including all eight Bill Green markers in the final stanza.

Tim Higgins netted 4 points, Chris Hekimian 2, Steve Mencis 2, Steve Napolitano 2 and Scott Powers 2

St. Augustine's B, 46-23

Paul Sheedy and Tom Brand both hit double figures as St. Augustine's B, using their superior height advantage, triumphed over a scrappy West Parish team.

St. A's bolted to a 14-4 first quarter lead, increased it to 28-8 at halftime, and then traded baskets with West Parish the rest of the way.

Sheedy and Brand accounted for 14 and 10 points, respectively, Brian Sheehy added 8, Bob Scanlon 6, Scott McNamara 4, and Jeff Wolnik and Steve McGertrick rounded out the winner's attack with single buckets.

South, 50-29

Jeff Penner of South poured through 12 third quarter points to lift his team to its decision over St. Robert's C.

The winners were ahead 22-16 at halftime, but exploded to a 40-22 lead after three periods as Penner led a 18-6 surge.

Bantams On A Streak

Strong skating, crisp passing and unselfish play continue to be the key factors contributing to the recent success of the Bantam A hockey team. Their current winning streak was extended to four games with impressive wins over Chelsea and Danvers. These two victories bring their record for the month of January to 6-2 and 8-3-1 since Christmas. During this time, the Bantams have averaged better than five goals per game while allowing the opposition 3.25 goals per game.

Andover 5 - Chelsea 2

After a late Saturday night game in Wilmington, the Bantams took to the ice early Sunday morning against Chelsea's Red Devils. This was the third meeting of the year for these two teams with Andover winning and tying in their previous encounters.

After some fast up and down action early in the game, the locals broke open on top at the 9:19 mark as John Marocco (S. Smith, T. Marjerison) fired home the game's first goal. This would be Marocco's first of two goals for the night and his ninth in the previous 12 games as he continues on a hot streak. He is the Bantam's third leading scorer with 46 points.

This 1-0 lead held up until late in the period when veteran defenseman Fran Ferrara started Andover toward their second goal of the game. Ferrara intercepted a Chelsea pass at his own blue line and fed Marjerison a perfect pass as he crossed center ice. After pulling the defense out of position, Marjerison slipped the puck to Shane Smith who registered his 30th goal of the season to give Andover a 2-0 lead. Like Marocco, Smith has been on a scoring spree of late as he scored his tenth goal in the past 12 games to increase his team leading point production to 71 points.

As the second period opened, winger Jeff Kennedy provided the spark as he stole the puck deep in enemy territory, passed to Smith in the slot, who in turn fed Marjerison coming in on the left for the locals third tally of the game. This was Marjerison's 20th goal of the year and his 49th point.

Chelsea broke the shutout midway in the period but Andover got it back before the buzzer. Rookies George Heseltine and Dave Bartle, on some pretty passing, set up Marocco's second goal with 40 seconds remaining in the period. Chelsea tried to make a game of it early in the third period but goalie Greg Najjar repeatedly turned them aside on eight shots including one breakaway. Jeff Kennedy (Smith) scored his 18th goal of the year (41 points) on a goal mouth tip-in at the five-minute mark. Kennedy, like his linemates, Smith and Marjerison, has been on a scoring streak of his own as he picked up his eighth goal in 12 games.

While the scoring in this game was being handled up front, some very steady defensive play was being played at the blue line. Rookie partners, Matt Shine and Paul Gilmartin, not only controlled the flow of the game while on the ice, they displayed some of the best hitting from the blue line throughout the game. Chelsea managed one final goal late in the game to make the final score 5-2 Andover.

Andover 7 - Danvers 0

On Tuesday evening, the Bantams really showed their overall depth with an impressive 7-0 victory over Danvers. Minus their entire first line of Marjerison, Smith and Kennedy, due to illness and injuries, the rest of the team picked up the slack and took it to the opposition. With veterans Mike DelTrecco and Fran Ferrara providing the leadership on defense, the rookies put on a scoring display up front. Coach Charlie Donovan, being shorthanded, had to come up with a make shift line. As he has done on other occasions this year, he brought his defensive pairing of Earl Abdoo and Dave Curtis together on a line with center Jeff McNeil. The trio responded with an outstanding game. Total point production on the night came to six as Curtis had two goals, McNeill had two goals and two assists and Abdoo had three assists.

On Sunday the Bantams will host Pittsfield at P.A. Next weekend they will play two more non-league games against Brunswick, Maine. The following weekend the Bantams depart for their week-long trip to Toronto and Oshawa, Canada.

Danvers League Squirt B

Andover's Squirt B team moved two steps closer to a .500 record for the season when they won two games last weekend. On Saturday they defeated Wakefield 4-1 in Danvers League action and Lowell 8-1 in Wilmington on Sunday.

Andover 4 - Wakefield 1

Andover started very slowly in the Wakefield game with neither team being able to score in the first period. Andover had a few chances as Danny Surdam and Bryan Smith each got good shots off, but goalie Michelle DiStefano, aided by the steady defensive play of Jimmy Morris and Jonathan Shine, kept the score even.

Andover's first break came a minute into the second period when Eddie Chaisson scored on a penalty shot after a rarely seen thrown stick call was correctly made. Four minutes later Wakefield scored on a screen shot to tie it up. With 1:40 left in the period Derek Camarota gave Andover the lead again when he took a pass from defenseman Todd Allard, curled the net and put a backhand in the short side by the startled Wakefield goalie.

The first half of the final period was evenly played. Andover standouts included defenseman Matt Tanner, who made several excellent plays, and forwards John Constantine and Randy Moreau, who had good scoring bids halted. With five minutes left in the game Michael DiStefano made it 3-1 Andover when he put a nice wrist shot into the top corner. Andover's final goal came with just over three minutes left when Derek Camarota scored his second goal of the game after a nice shot by Timmy Sullivan. Camarota and Chaisson actually battled the rebound in the net simultaneously, but Camarota's stick was on the inside. The third period was also marked by the solid play of defensemen Jonathan Shine and Jimmy Morris, who gave lessons in what happens to forwards who whack at a goalie after the whistle.

Andover 8 - Lowell 1

Andover completely dominated the Lowell game, as forward Michael DiStefano took over in the nets for his sister, Michelle, who took a regular turn up front and came within one shot of a shutout. The game was good for the team as several players took turns at new positions and several different players picked up goals and assists.

Andover's first goal came 20 seconds into the game as Eddie Chaisson converted a nice pass from Derek Camarota. The play then went up and down fairly evenly until the four minute mark when Andover scored twice in 27 seconds to assume a 3-0 lead. Chaisson scored the first goal on a nice solo rush and Timmy Sullivan repeated the play a short time later. First period defensive standouts were Matt Tanner and Todd Allard.

After Lowell made it 3-1 three minutes into the second period. Randy Moreau scored the first of his two goals after a nice feed by Timmy Sullivan to regain Andover's three goal lead. Lowell spent the rest of the period trying to get out of their own zone as Andover's defensemen, particularly Jimmy Morris, continually bottled them up.

Andover scored four times in the final period to wrap up the game. Chaisson scored the first to complete his hat trick and give Andover a 5-1 lead. His goal came on a rebound after Michelle DiStefano's excellent shot was stopped. Danny Surdam then scored the sixth goal after an outstanding pass off the stick of Sullivan. Bryan Smith had fed Sullivan on the play to earn an assist. Randy Moreau's second goal made it 7-1 as he converted another Sullivan pass for a score. Andover's final goal when John Constantine put himself in perfect position at the top of the crease to tip in a good pass from Moreau.

Mites

Revere 3 - Andover 2

End to end play, two fine goaltending performances and drama up to the final whistle were the key ingredients of this exciting game last Saturday.

It so happened that Andover lost this one, although it was a close hard game with both sides had the opportunity to win. The Andover squad picked up where it had left off the week before with reshuffled lines continuing to move the puck about effectively. It was not until the third period, though, that they broke through an excellent reverse defence. By this time the task of catching up from behind was just too great. The 3-2 scoreline stands as a tribute to both goalkeepers. For Andover, Kevin Lane played his first game between the sticks and was quite excellent. Beyond that, a strong Andover effort was marred only by some rather adventurous—and costly—play the wrong end of the ice.

Sean Darwin and Kevin Smith got Andover's goals, with Kevin Smith also picking up an assist. Brian Lane, Peter Arthur, Chris Pothier and Ryan Moynihan also caught the eye and exemplified the good spirit of the team as a whole.

Maybe the first lesson to be drawn from this game is to clear the puck from our own end a little more effectively; a second lesson might be for wingers to keep position and hustle more in the corners. But, this was an enjoyable game and not the kind of loss to be taken too seriously. Well played, both sides!

Wilmington League

PeeWee B

Andover 2 - North Reading 6

The one-sided score doesn't give a fair indication of how well Andover played this game. They had pressure on the opponent throughout the contest, and for over half of the game, they were still threatening to win. The difference came down to a good team running up against a better squad.

In the early going Andover had the edge in play. Then, in a penalty situation, they successfully held off a very strong No. Reading bid. And within a few seconds of that, Lou LoPresti's hard work paid off and he notched his first goal of the season slipping a nice shot under a goalie. Assists went to Rob Stoltz and Doug Bleszinski, who did excellent work to get the puck in front of the net and keep it loose despite the efforts of a strong No. Reading defense.

Brian Costello, moved from his usual defense position to take regular shifts at wing, played an exceptionally strong game. Defense pairings of Mike Nelligan, Dan Hegarty, Peter Donegan and John Leng were effective. Right after No. Reading had tied the game at one apiece, Leng set up a go-ahead goal, rushing the puck down the left side and putting a shot across, which Stoltz tapped into the open side.

On the forward lines, Andy Weiner, Chris Boyle and Jeff Leonard did some fine passing to set up a number of chances. Hugh Maginnis and Danny Iandoli started off a number of good rushes from mid-ice. Goalies Ian Anderson and Tim Adams both made several good saves.

Despite the loss, the PeeWee Bs are showing steady improvement in all department.

Squirt A's

Andover 2, Danvers 4

Playing perhaps their best all-around game of the season, the Andover Squirt A's gave league-leading Danvers all they could handle, and then some. From beginning to end, this game was full of excitement. Both teams played sound two-way hockey. Action went from end to end as both teams had some good scoring chances.

Danvers had a 3-0 lead when Brent Raftery, assisted by Steve McSweeney and Glen Driscoll, blasted a high wrist shot past the Danvers goalie. This cut the lead to 3-1 and ignited the whole Andover team. Matt Adams, Dukie McNamara and David Sopp peppered the Danvers goalie but could not score. Matt and Dukie worked a give-and-go behind the Danvers' goal but could not stuff the puck past the goalie.

Defensively, Andover was at its best. Chip Stella, John Gilmartin, Kenny Leng and Steven McSweeney

PLANNING BOARD
PUBLIC HEARING

In accordance with Chapter 41, Section 81Q, the Andover Planning Board will hold a public hearing Tuesday, February 9, 1982 at 7:30 P.M. for the consideration of the following changes to its Subdivision Rules and Regulations:

1. AMEND Section III. C.2.(b) (Contents) by adding the following as Item 12:

12. The soil erosion and sedimentation control plan shall provide the following information:

1. A map showing the kinds, location, and description of soils found on the planned development site;
2. The limitation ratings of the soils for the specific land uses proposed as identified by the "U.S.D.A. Soil Survey Report";
3. A description of the anticipated sequence for each major phase of development, including expected starting and completion dates;
4. A map showing:
 - a. Location of wetlands, streams, water bodies and flood plains.
 - b. Areas of cut and fill and planned grades;
 - c. Existing woodland;
 - d. Existing drainage patterns;
 - e. Areas having slopes exceeding 10%;
 - f. Areas to be disturbed during construction;
 - g. Areas where earth and other material subject to erosion will be temporarily stockpiled;

5. A program containing the procedures which the developer will follow to ensure adherence with the basic principles and design guidelines (Sec. IV.G.). All of the listed principles and design guidelines may not apply to every project.

2. AMEND Section IV. by adding the following new Paragraph "G" (Soil Erosion and Sedimentation Control).

G. SOIL EROSION AND SEDIMENTATION CONTROL

The technical reference which the Planning Board uses to review subdivision plans for the effectiveness of the erosion and sedimentation plan is "Guidelines for Soil and Water Conservation in Urbanizing Areas of Massachusetts", 1977, U.S.D.A. Soil Conservation Service, Amherst, Massachusetts, as updated from time to time.

In general, the Board considers the following to be good basic principles to be used when planning any subdivision site:

1. Plan and utilize land and water resources giving prime consideration to site suitability and soil limitations based on soil surveys and interpretations;
 2. Develop an overall plan for land use, erosion control, and water management;
 3. Protect adjoining property from damage or hazard from land disturbing operations;
 4. Make best use of existing topography and natural land features to fullest extent possible;
 5. Limit clearing, grading, and slope modifications to those consistent with good land use;
 6. Conserve and utilize existing vegetative cover to fullest extent possible;
 7. Make permanent vegetative plantings that are compatible with specific soil and site conditions;
 8. Control erosion and runoff;
 9. Protect surface and subsurface waters from pollution;
 10. Control dust;
 11. Protect stockpiles from wind and water erosion.
- The Board considers the following to be the guidelines to be used:
1. Limit grading to only those areas actively undergoing current construction;
 2. The smallest practical area of land should be exposed at one time during development;
 3. Limit the length of time graded areas are exposed;
 4. Provide temporary or permanent stabilization of critical and disturbed areas at the earliest opportunity. Limit exposure to less than 60 days;
 5. Retain and protect as much of the natural vegetawere super. They broke up numerous rushes at the blue line and covered the front of the net like a blanket.

In goal, Mike Murnane and Timmy Lane continued their fine play. On a few occasions, Danvers looked like they had a sure goal, only to be denied by Mike or Timmy.

Mid-way through the third period, Michael Tiberii and Gary Bleszinski pressured the Danvers defense into making some bad passes, but once again the Danvers goalie was up to the challenge.

Perserverance and hard work finally paid off in Andovers' second goal. Brent Raftery took a pass from Steve McSweeney, turned the defense, pulled the goalie to one side, then passed to Matt Pothier, who banged the puck into the open net. This was one of the prettiest tion as possible;

6. Permanent improvements such as streets, utilities, storm sewers, vegetated waterways, and other features of the development should be scheduled for installation to the greatest extent possible before removing the vegetative cover from an area scheduled for building construction;
7. Protect all fill slopes and cut slopes exceeding five feet in height from storm runoff through the use of diversion berms, drop chutes or by other acceptable means;
8. Rough-graded rights of way awaiting installation of utilities and/or pavement should be protected by the installation of interceptor berms across the right of way so as to reduce the length of slope between berms to not more than 250 feet;
9. On sites where the above procedures are impractical or not acceptable and where topography permits, install sediment basins, desilting basins, or silt traps to remove sediment from runoff waters.
3. Amend Section IV. A.4.a. by deleting in its entirety and substituting the following:
 - a. Grades not to exceed 8% will be allowed on minor streets. Grades not to exceed 6% will be allowed on major streets and collector streets. The grades of all streets shall not be less than 1%.
4. AMEND Section V.E.b. (Monuments) by striking out the first sentence in its entirety and substituting the following:
 - b. Iron pipe markers set in concrete shall be installed at all lot boundaries, including lots to be conveyed to the Town of Andover for open space under Cluster Development plans, at corners and changes in course.

plays you would ever want to see.

The score was now 3-2 Danvers, with Andover on fire. Andover was like a team possessed. They did everything but score. With less than a minute to play, Danvers scored an open-net goal to insure the win.

Probably the ultimate praise came when the Danvers coach came into the Andover locker room to offer his congratulations for a super team effort. A tip of the hat to the whole Andover team, especially Brent Raftery, David Sopp and Steve McSweeney for one super game.

Danvers League

Andover 3, Charlestown 6

This was the showdown for first place. Andover had beaten Charlestown earlier in the year but came out flat for this game. Every so often you have one of these games and there's not much you can do about it.

Charlestown jumped out to a 2-0 lead at the end of one period and looked like they were off and running. However, Matt Pothier got two quick goals, both assisted by Dukie McNamara, to open the second period. Andover seemed to be getting back on track. But this was not the case. Charlestown got two more goals before the period ended and led 4-2 after two.

Steve McSweeney, assist to Matt Pothier, got Andover's third and last goal. For the remainder of the game, Andover just could not get things going. Congratulations to Matt Pothier, who had two goals and an assist.

Andover 6, Lynn 0

Andover got back on the right track in this game. They controlled the game from the opening faceoff and could have scored many more goals except for some excellent goaltending by the Lynn netminder.

Brent Raftery, assists to S. McSweeney and C. Stella, opened the scoring at the five-minute mark of the first period. Andover continued to apply pressure and bottle up Lynn in their own zone, which resulted in Andover's second goal. Matt Adams and David Sopp set up Dukie McNamara, who slid the puck under Lynn's goalie.

Andover started the second period just like the first. Brent Raftery, assist to Todd Roycroft, got his second goal of the game when he fired a shot high into the corner for a 3-0 Andover lead. On the next line shift, Matt Adams and Dukie McNamara combined some good skating and fine passing, which enabled Matt to up the score to 4-0.

While Andover was free-wheeling and scoring goals, Mike Murnane and Timmy Lane were working hard to protect their second shutout of the season. John Gilmartin and Kenney Leng were stalwarts on defense as they consistently broke up plays at the blue line.

Glen Driscoll, assists to Glenn Farnham and Matt Pothier, scored Andover's fifth goal when he drove a rebound past a surprised Lynn goalie. Andover's sixth and final goal was scored by Glenn Farnham, assist to Brent Raftery.

A tip of the hat to Matt Adams, Brent Raftery and Dukie McNamara for good play.

Control

Being in control of the development of land, we are careful to retain as much as possible the original contour and protect the maximum amount of natural landscaping. Thus we build a neighborhood that is pleasant to look at and comfortable to live in.

HOW MUCH ELECTRICITY?

The average family today uses three times as much electricity as families in the U.S. only 15 years ago. Backing-up somewhat further, in 1940, a mere 30 ampere electric service was all you needed to power a house including the lights. Now we have electrical devices ranging from washers and dryers to TV sets and knife sharpeners. Some of them, such as an electric range or dryer, draw more electricity than could be supplied by an entire electric board in a typical 1940 house.

The average house today requires an electric service output of 240 volts and 100 amperes capacity. It should say at least that much on the main electric switch box - that's where the fuses or circuit breakers are located. If it's a large house or it has heavy electric users like central air conditioning or electric heat, you should look for at least 240 volts and 150 amperes capacity.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

A new method of treating water electromagnetically - without chemicals, without pollution - removes every type of scale and controls hard water, corrosion. As more industries use this relatively new process it can save the United States millions of gallons of fuel.

Classification

did go up — homeowners would not have that option, and would have to absorb the cost of higher taxes, she indicated.

Saying she was "concerned about the residential quality in this town," Poore asked for more information on how classification would effect industrial tax bills, and how a higher industrial tax rate would compare to the rate in other communities.

But Byrne moved the question, pointing out that "the matter has been extensively discussed." Byrne urged the board to vote on classification two weeks ago; Poore and Harris said they were not prepared to vote at that time.

The state Department of Revenue certified the final revaluation figures from PRC Jacobs on Monday, Russell told the board. But the state would not accept the figures until the assessors agreed to classify vacant residential land in the commercial category, rather than in the residential category.

Those 462 vacant lots, valued at $7.5 million, bring the commercial category up to $99,394,470 in total valuation (from $91,847,370) and the residential category down to $709,089,090 (from $716,642,190). A slight decrease in the share of the levy for the residential class results, along with a slight increase for the commercial class.

Poore called that aspect of the revaluation law "anti-open space, anti-conservation" and "pitiful". Pending legislation may allow vacant land to be classified according to its zone or use, Russell said, some time next year.

The assessors are now ready to set the tax rate, which will probably be between $19.30 and $20, Russell said earlier this month. Tax bills are scheduled to be mailed in mid-March.
